Witness Gives James B. McNamara's Confession Given Him in Wisconsin

BOTH FLEE TO THE WOODS

McManigal Says He Took J. B. to Wisconsin Woods on Pretext of Hunting Deer.

FRISCO LEADERS IMPLICATED

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., NOV. 14.—For the first time since the twenty one persons were killed in the blowing-up of the Los Angeles Times building on October 1st, 1910, James B. McNamara's detailed confession to having caused the explosion with his motives for doing it and his comments on the fact that so many people were killed was related on the witness stand in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today.

Ortie E. McManigal said the confession was given him while he was hiding with McNamara in the woods five miles from Conover, Wis., both of them having gone to Wisconsin on the pretex of being hunters.

Olaf Tveitmoe and Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco, labor leaders, McManigal testified, were named by McNamara as having made arrangements for the Los Angeles explosion and as having furnished the two men—F. A. Schmitt and David Caplain—to assist in buying the high power nitro-glycerine, "because Schmitt and Caplain had been regularly employed on the coast by the building trades council of California."

Tveitmoe and Clancy are among the 45 defendants on trial. Caplain and Smith named by McManigal were indicted in Los Angeles county with Jas. B. McNamara on charges of murder but they never have been caught. Government agents have been informed that Caplain was killed.

Twists off Gas Jet.

When he asked McNamara why he twisted off a gas jet in the basement of the Times building before the explosion, McManigal testified that McNamara replied he "wanted the whole building to go to hell," adding that he had hoped to get Gen. Otis. At the request of John J. McNamara, McManigal said he took James B. McNamara on a hunting trip with him into Wisconsin early in November, 1910. One day he missed James B., and started out alone to look for deer.

"On standing on a tree stump I suddenly heard the crack of a pistol," McManigal testified, "but looking around saw no one. Everyone was supposed to wear a red cap to distinguish people from deer. I saw no red cap, but presently I saw James B. Suspicion flashed into my mind. I accused him right out.

" 'I think you were taking a shot at me,' I said. 'If you do, you had better be quick about it. This is a fine place up here to get rid of a man—just shoot him and the coyotes will eat up his body.' He replied he just did it to scare me.

Says Tveitmoe Was Paymaster.

"Then we being alone, he sat down and told me about the Los Angeles job. He said Tveitmoe was the big paymaster and there never was anything to fear for Tveitmoe was the mayor of San Francisco. He said Schmitt had a scheme to set off bombs by chemicals which he had learned from a friend of Tveitmoe's but when he (McNamara) showed them the alarm clock scheme they all decided it was best. Schmitt and J. B. went to Los Angeles and looked over the Llewellyn and Banter iron works plants and the Times building. James B., sent back to his brother a post card on which was partly written and partly printed:

"It now reads 'the Times for the News.' It will soon read 'the news for the Times.'

"I asked him why he went after the Times. He answered Tveitmoe had put him on to it.

How He Entered Building.

"Then he told me how he had set the bomb in what is known as "ink alley" in the Times building in some ink barrels and old paper. Going in he said he was stopped by the night watchman who asked him what he wanted in there. He replied he was going to the composing room. The watchman let him pass. He again was stopped by a boy; but he also told the boy he was going to the composing room. The boy directed him to a door or a stairway I think he said. He reached the basement and while passing through it tore off a gas jet.

"He told me he put the infernal machines at the residences of General Harrison Gray Otis, proprietor of the Times and Felix Seehandlar, secretary of the merchants and manufacturers association all to go off at one o'clock in the morning. He said on the way back east he was frightened by the people talking of the explosion. He said he couldn't bear to look anybody in the face and he thought everyone on the train was looking at him.

Stays Two Weeks at Salt Lake.

"At Salt Lake City he said he couldn't stand it any longer so he stepped off the train and got in touch with J. E. Munsey, who hid him in his house for two weeks."

McManigal told of a number of other explosions. After the news of the Los Angeles explosion was published he said that J. J. McNamara, secretary of the iron workers headquarters in Indianapolis, sent him to Worcester, Mass., to cause an "echo" of the Pacific coast explosion in the east.

"I want an echo of that Los Angeles in the east so if they catch James B., they will think they have the wrong man," McManigal said was the way J. J. McNamara, instructed him.

McManigal said he went to Worchester and caused two explosions there on October 9th. On the return he testified, he called at the home of Frank C. Webb in New York and left a message that if any more work was to be done in the east word should be sent to J. J. McNamara in Indianapolis. He said he also looked over the possibility of blowing up jobs in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

GUNMEN SWEAR THEIR INNOCENCE

ALL THREE DENY EVERY STATEMENT MADE BY JACK ROSE

Accuse Webber, Vallon and a Mysterious Stranger of Firing Shots That Killed Gambler--Declare Themselves "Innocent Bystanders".

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—In the picturesque language of the bowery, three of the gunmen on trial as the actual murderers of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal gave on the witness stang today the version of the slaying which they hope will win them acquittal.

The three were "Gyp the Blood," deliberate of speech and swarthy; "Whitey Lewis," blonde haired and dramatic in manner, and "Lefty Louie," even darker than "Gyp," sullen and stolid. All were nattily dressed.

In stories which fitted together perfectly, and in some parts proved almost literal repetition, the three gunmen accused "Bridgie" Webber, Harry Vallon and a mysterious "strange man," of firing the shots that killed the gambler, themselves they pictured as innocent bystanders, lured there by "Bald" Jack Rose.

"Dago Frank," the fourth gunman, they all testified, was not on the scene at all. Frank will be given a chance to tell his story tomorrow.

"Bald" Jack Rose, graft collector for Lieutenant Charles Becker, since convicted of procuring the murder, the gunmen described today as a man who feared the vengeance of the leader of their gang, "Big Jack" Selig, recently shot to death. Rose was anxious to prove to them that he had nothing to do with having Selig "framed up" on the charge of carrying concealed weapons by two of Becker's men, they declared. That was Rose's sole purpose in seeking them out, they said, and not a word did Rose speak to them about having Merman Rosenthal "croaked." It was to furnish them proof of his own innocence in the Selig matter that Rose got them to visit Webber's poker rooms on the night of the murder and it was in response to a message from Rose to the mysterious stranger that they left the poker rooms and went to the Metropole hotel where Rosenthal met his fate. Whether Rose led them there to lay suspicion on them they did not know.

Who the mysterious stranger was they did not know. All agreed that he was about "five feet nine inches in height, about 160 or 170 pounds, had a black moustache and wore a slouch hat." It was the stranger who led them on foot, not in a gray automobile to the Metropole, they said. There on the street they saw Jack Rose, Sam Schepps, "Bridgie" Webber and Harry Vallon. The gray automobile which has been called the "murder car" was there too. The "strange man" joined Webber and Vallon and as "Whitey Lewis" described the shooting, "all of a sudden there was a flash. The stranger shot first. Then we saw more flashes—Harry Vallon and 'Bridgie' Webber were shooting and we beat it for the subway."

They didn't even know that it was Rosenthal who had been shot until the next day they said. All three denied every incriminating statement made by Jack Rose involving them in the murder, "Lefty Louie" swearing that Rose had never paid him $1,000 to divide with other gunmen to enable them to get out of town as Rose had testified.

FEDERALS ARE AMBUSHED.

Mexico City, Nov. 14.—One hundred federals on their way from Puebla in the state of Mexico to the relief of Tepeji, 30 miles to the south are seriously menaced by Zapatistas who ambushed them at Barranca Honda. Trainmen who escaped reported that the federals lost 12 men and that the others are hard pressed. Six hundred rebels under Tuerto Morales attacked Huehuetla, state of Puebla, which was defended by rurale guards.

Most of the defenders with the commander, Jose Rosete, went over to the rebels. Rosete was made a colonel in the rebel ranks. Engagements have been reported at various other points, the federals winning with few casualities.

WORK FOR NEW BIRTH REGISTRATION BILL

DR. HEDGES BITTERLY ARRAIGNS WOMEN FOR THEIR INDIFFERENCE

Miss Brooks Says "Club Women Are Spending too Much Time Admiring Pictures of Madonnas and Talking About Art" and Comes Close to Truth.

AURORA, Ill., Nov. 14.—This was "health day" at the Illinois Federation of Womens clubs meeting here today. The question of birth registration was resumed and Dr. Caroline Hedges, in a bitter arraignment of women for their indifference urged the delegates to work for the adoption of a new birth registration bill. She declared there could be no complete birth registration until women changed their attitude toward illegal operations on women.

A health conference was held in one of the theaters. Addresses were made by Dr. George Webster, Sherman Kingsley, Dr. Mary McEwan, and Dr. Rachael Yarros. Dr. Yarros pointed out that all health work of the federation is being carried on by regular physicians.

Miss Virginia Brooks spoke at the afternoon session.

"Club women are spending too much time admiring pictures of Madonnas and talking about art," she said. "If they turned more of their attention to cleaning up municipal affairs in their cities they would do a lot more good."

Mrs. Frederick A. Dow was receiving congratulations today on her election to the presidency of the state federation. The announcement was not to be made until today. Mrs. Dow has been president of the first district.

INVESTIGATES OIL AND GAS LEASES ON OSAGE INDIAN RESERVATION

Secretary of the Interior Fisher is is Looking Over Subject of Oil Land in Oklahoma.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Secretary of the Interior Fisher is looking into the whole subject of the oil and gas leases on the Osage Indian lands in Oklahoma, involving rights worth millions of dollars. The issue arose on receipt today of an official report of resolutions adopted by the Osage executive council, refusing to accept independent bids for 42,000 acres of these lands, approved by the interior department. The department some time ago approved leases, covering more than 800,000 acres on the Osage reservation, with a royalty of 12 1-2 per cent and with a clause requiring written consent of entry which the department held to be illegal. New regulations were framed at the department, requiring royalty of 16 2-3 per cent and a minimum of 60c a barrel for oil with strict provisions regarding development.

The Standard Oil company and many independent oil producers protested that the regulations were too strict. The bids approved by the department and now rejected by the council covered two-fifths of the acreage offered and gave the Indians a straight bonus of $142,000.

CROSS' RUSE DROPS HOGAN.

New York, Nov. 14.—Leach Cross of this city knocked out "One Round" Hogan of California in the third round of a scheduled ten round bout here tonight.

Hogan was out fought in the first two rounds. In the third the Californian landed a left hook to Cross' head. Cross dropped his head as if the blow had dazed him. As Hogan came in fooled by the East Sider's ruse, the latter suddenly straightened up, landed left and right to head and body and then with a terrific right cross on the jaw put Hogan to the floor for the full count.

Each weighed 137 pounds ringside.

ROOSEVELT LEAD NOW 66 VOTES

With Official Figures From All But Three Counties in California Wilson is Loser by Narrow Margin.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 14.—California gave Roosevelt a plurality tonight, over Wilson of 66 in considerably over a half-million votes. These figures were official from all but three counties—San Francisco, Los Angeles and Yuba.

In Los Angeles a Roosevelt stronghold, the Democrats filed a petition with the district court of appeals for a writ of mandamus compelling the board of supervisors to make an honest count. Arguments on the application will be heard on Monday. Democrats maintained that the final count would put Wilson several hundred in the lead for the entire state. Progressives insisted that there would be no appreciable change.

RALLY CLOSES CONVENTION.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 14.—A large public rally tonight marked the conclusion of the tenth biennial convention of the Luther League of America. Choice of the next meeting place was vested in the executive committee, Wm. C. Stoever, Philadelphia was elected president.

GIRLS POISONED BY CANDY.

Zanesville, O., Nov. 14.—Seven girls students at the local business college were poisoned today by candy. Physicians worked over them six hours and succeeded in bringing them to consciousness. Two are in a precarious condition.

GOMPERS DEFENDS FEDERATION POLICY

PRESIDENT DEFENDS NON-POLITICAL POLICY ADHERED TO

Declares Only Thing Can End Struggle Between Capital and Labor is Recognition of the Rights of the Men Who Toil.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., NOV. 14.—At the close of a day of addresses by fraternals from Great Britain and Canada and representatives of religious and philanthropic associations organized in the interest of labor, President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor defended the non-political policy of the federation and declared that the only thing that will end the struggle between Capital and Labor is recognition of the rights of the toilers to the best and all that is produced.

"I may call attention to the fact that while we do not pin our faith to the pledges made by any political party the American method of our organized labor movement have accomplished results," he said, while we are insistent upon the achievement of every demand of the labor movement we ought not to deny the achievement of some material results. I venture to make the statement that never were there so many people who voted for propositions, declarations, demands and promises for social justice as the 14,000,000 who voted in this country two weeks ago.

"The American labor movement is the product of American conditions, it is an outgrowth of American circumstances a development of American industry and commerce. Some may hold that to proclaim ultimate ideals without the means of attaining them is progress, while others may contend that every advance by the workers is progress and that every hour thrown off the shoulders of the workers each day means golden hours of opportunity for further progress.

"The basis of our movement as I understand, is that there is nothing on God's green earth that we create by our strength that we do not own and we propose to continue in the struggle to bring every man and woman who toils into the ranks of organized labor and to instill into him the idea that he is his brother's keeper. This American labor movement is not based on misery not on hunger, except a hunger for more more. Only the recognition of the right of the toilers to the best and all that is produced can end the struggle of the toilers for all time."

Early in the day addresses had been made by Robert Smiley of Scotland, representing the British trades union congress, J. U. Bruce, representing the Canadian trades and labor congress. Conditions of workers under the British flag were described.

All three delegates declared that with few exceptions conditions were the same the country over.

LEE M'CLUNG RESIGNS AS TREASURER OF THE U. S.

Carmi Thompson, Private Secretary to President Taft, May Succeed Him—Change Will Cost Considerable.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Announcement of the resignation of Lee McClung as treasurer of the United States was made by President Taft today. It is believed Carmi Thompsn, now private secretary to the president, will succeed him. The change is expected to take place early next week. The bond of the new treasurer must be approved by the comptroller of the treasury. It will require several days to perfect that formality.

Mr. McClung's formal letter of resignation to the president assigned no reason for his action. In the view of official Washington that omission lent color to the belief that the secretary and the treasurer were out of sympathy in their official relations.

As soon as the senate confirms the appointment of Mr. McClung's successor the new treasurer's name will appear upon all the currency of the United States. The change will entail considerable expense. It probably will cost $10,000 to correct plates, and a large sum for counting the money and securities.

Secretary MavVeagh will appoint a committee to undertake the counting. Both the retiring and the incoming treasurers will have representatives present to look after their interests.

NEGRO MURDERER MOBBED.

Ocala, Fla., Nov. 14.—Unusual means were employed here today in the lyinching of "Prech" Neils, the negro arrested for the murder of Mary Stephenson, aged 18, and her grandfather, J. B. Berges, aged 80, at McIntosh, Fla., yesterday.

After taking the negro from the jail the mob of more than 200 marched him to the outskirts of the town. There he was set free and ordered to "beat it." After he had run a few steps the contents of scores of guns were fired into his body, literally shooting it to pieces. The body of his victims were buried today. A negro boy and girl were arrested at McIntosh this afternoon charged with being accomplices of Neils in the double murder. The town is quiet tonight.

WILSON AND TAFT IN NEW YORK TOMORROW

PRESIDENT AND PRESIDENT-ELECT WILL BE IN CITY AT SAME TIME

Wilson Will Leave SSunday Afternoon for Vacation—Will Probably Have No Time to Call on President Taft.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 14.—President-elect Wilson and President Taft are to be in New York at the same time on Saturday but the probabilities are against their meeting. Governor Wilson plans to go to New York tomorrow afternoon to attend a dinner to be given him by the class of 1879 of Princeton university of which he is a member. He will remain in New York until the afternoon of Sunday when he will start on his vacation trip.

President Taft is expected to reach New York early on Saturday. The president-elect however, will be occupied with numerous engagements and probably will have no opportunity to call on the president during the brief time both will be in the city.

Governor Wilson's day was one of variety. He wrote letters all morning, had a number of callers and reviewed the second regiment of the state militia as it came away from its sham battle on the historic battleground of Princeton.

Governor Wilson expects to return here from his vacation on December 16th, and is preparing for a strenuous time with an extended list of appointments. Before he goes to Washington for his inauguration the students of the university plan to give him a big dinner, probably in the college gymnasium. The townspeople are arranging a demonstration to give their distinguished resident, a "send off."

OPEN SALVATION HOME FOR GIRLS

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Room and board and the use of a "matrimonial parlor" for from $3.50 to $5 a week is what the Salvation home for girls opened today offers its guests. Three "parlors" were added as an extra attraction, that the young women roomers might not have to meet their men friends on street corners and in dance halls.

The home will accommodate eighty-five girls. It formerly was occupied by the Union club. Every room was taken before the home opened and twenty-five names are on the waiting list.

WILL START EDUCATIONAL CRUSADE REGARDING DISEASE

Gynecologists State Twenty-Five Per Cent of Women Afflicted With Cancer Can Be Cured.

New York, Nov. 14.—With the statement that practically twenty-five per cent of women afflicted with a form of cancer peculiar to the sex can be cured if the disease is treated in its early stages, the clinical congress of surgeons, at its meeting tonight in Brooklyn, took steps to start a crusade of publicity throughout the country which it is believed will help to check the ravages of the disease.

Five leading gynecologists of the United States were appointed to begin the fight at once and to report at the next congress. This committee was instructed to write or have written articles to be published in the daily press and weekly or monthly magazines, as may prove most expedient in diseminating the condition.

At the head of the committee is Dr. Thomas S. Cullen, professor of gynecology at Johns Hopkins, Baltimore, who said it was high time for women and the newspapers too, to lay aside prudery and to look at the facts squarely.

GRANT ALL STRIKER'S DEMANDS

Chicago, Nov. 14.—For a few hours today, 30,000 teamsters were on strike in Chicago and it was feared that the trouble might extend to 24,000 more and assume serious aspects.

Tonight however the employers of the striking men granted all of their demands—$1.50 a week for double teams and $1 for singles and 30 cents an hour for overtime. The men will return to work tomorrow.

The strike was called by the Chicago Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Helpers' union but it involved only teamsters whose employers had refused to sign the new scale.

Ten contracting companies were involved.

HENRY WILL NOT OPPOSE CLARK

CONGRESSMAN NOT CANDIDATE FOR SPEAKERSHIP OF HOUSE

If Speaker Clark Seeks Re-Election it is Expected Friends of Texas Man Will Declare Themselves in Favor of Clarkr

WASHINGTON, NOV. 14.—The speakership of the house is expected to receive considerable attention among the Democratic congressmen within the next two weeks. Congressman Henry's statement yesterday that he would not be a candidate against Speaker Clark, will result it is expected, in many of Mr. Henry's friends declaring themselves in favor of Speaker Clark's re-election.

It was pointed out today that the congressmen who have been active supporters of Mr. Henry for the speakership that the Texas man was not an avowed candidate two years ago, although his name figured prominently in the discussion that preceded the selection of Champ Clark.

Speaker Clark will reach Washington tomorrow and will discuss plans for the executive session with Democratic congressmen connected with the more important committees of the house.

The first real legislative work will begin next Wednesday when the sub-committee of the house committee on appropriations takes up consideration of the executive, legislative and judicial appropriation bill.

Representative Johnson, chairman of the appropriation committee said today the committee had been called together in the expectation of being able to complete the bill by the beginning of the next session December 2nd. This will be the first of the supply measures to be reported to the house and it will be taken up promptly by that body. Mr. Johnson said the bill would be confined as closely as possible to appropriations, eliminating all matters of general legislation and that, owing to the extensive hearings held last session such hearings would not be necessary on the bill of this session. The measure last year carried $35,000,000 and an equally large appropriation is expected at the approaching session.

Representative Pujo of Louisiana, will call the house money trust investigating committee for a meeting late next week. This is expected to be a preliminary gathering to make plans for prosecutions.

Several sessions have been held and the committee gone extensively into the operation of the New York house. Many other branches of the banking business require attention and it is expected that hearings will consume a great deal of the time of the committee during the next session of congress. Chairman Pujo is expected in Washington within a few days.

AGREEMENT TO TAKE PLACE OF RUSSIAN TREATY OF 1832

Will be Worked Out Satisfactorily to Both Countries Before the Date When the Old Treaty Expires.

Washington, Nov. 14.—An agreement between the United States and Russia to take the place of the commercial treaty of 1832, the abrogation of which will become effective in January, virtually has been reached, according to information from high official authority. Nothing as to the exact nature of the agreement is announced. It was declared probable, however, that it would be worked out satisfactorily to both countries before the date when the old treaty would expire.

This advanced stage in the negotiations has been reached only after a number of conversations between Secretary of State Knox and Russian Ambassador Bakhmeteff, beginning last summer and continued at frequent intervals, the last taking place today. This course was adopted rather than the usual method of exchange of formal notes, as better calculated to secure a speedy disclosure of the existing conditions in the United States and Russia likely to affect the two governments in their efforts to prevent a complete rupture of their vast commercial relations.

So far as the state department is concerned the officials will not discuss the subject further than to make it plain that no agreement actually has been consummated. An official statement to this effect was made tonight.

BARBERS DONATE WORK.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—A plan to give half a day a week to charitable work was inaugurated here today by the local granch of the Journeymen Barbers International union. Fifteen barbers were called on to give the afternoon to cutting the hair of all at the Chicago home for boys. The 150 boys in the institutions were operated on with all the trimmings, each boy being given the style of hair cut he preferred. Every institution in Chicago will be visited once a week by a delegation of barbers, according to the plan of the union.

"The barbers are as generous as any set of men in the city," says the announcement, "they have no money to spare, but they will donate their work to charity."

QUESTION OF TERMS DELAYS ARMISTICE

No Armistice Has Been Concluded as Difficulties Arise as to Terms

CONTINUE NEGOTIATIONS

Bulgarians Said to Demand Adrianople, Scutari and Monastir as Peace Offering

BULGARIANS FEAR CHOLERA

LONDON, NOV. 14.—Turkey has now formally appealed to Bulgaria for peace, thus forestalling the tardy action of the European concert towards mediation. No armistice has yet been concluded; difficulties have arisen about the terms. It is said that Bulgaria demands the evacuation of Adrianople, Scutari and Monastir as a condition of agreeing to an armistice. Negotiations, however, continue.

The censorship again is exceedingly severe and difficult to arrive at.

The fall of Adrianople is rumored from both Servian and Turkish sources but this still is unconfirmed.

Another report says the Bulgarians have occupied Hademkeui, twenty-one miles from Constantinople. If this is true it is a very important capture as the town is Nazim Pasha's staff headquarters.

While the Vienna Reichspost correspondent with the Bulgarian army reports what he describes as "murderous fighting" along the Tchatalja lines Turkish official reports deny there has been any serious fighting there for several days.

With regard to other points, an improvement in the weather has permitted the resumption of Montenegrin attacks. A battle is imminent at Monastir where the garrison has been endeavoring to make terms for its surrender but imposed conditions which the Servian Crown Prince was unable to grant.

Should an attack on Monastir be made, the Turks are not expected to offer serious resistence to the combined Servian and Greek armies and its fate is likely to be the same as Saloniki. The Greeks continue their advance towards Janina. They have now taken Metsovo, a few miles to the northeast.

A report through Bucharist places the Bulgarian losses in the war at a far greater figure than has yet been estimated. According to this report the killed and wounded number between 60,000 and 80,000 out of a total of 320,000 men and it is pointed out, after allowance is made for holding the line of communication, only 160,000 effective men are left for fighting.

One reason which is considered likely to induce Bulgarians' consent to an armistice and to a peace settlement is fear of cholera. Official reports issued at Constantinople represent that comparatively few cases are occurring daily but other reports ysa the epidemic is serious with a high mortality.

There is no new development in the diplomatic situation but an official denial has been issued at St. Petersburg to representatives that the Russian government has pronounced itself in favor of Servia's claim for an Adriatic port or has sent instructions to the Russian ambassador at Vienna to that effect.

RETURNS FROM IOWA.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 14.—Official figures from ninety-eight of the ninety-nine counties of Iowa give Clark 179,847 votes for governor and Dunn 177,509. This result gives Clark a plurality of 2,339 votes.

The missing county is Pottawatomie, in which the canvass has not been finished. The official figures for this county give Dunn a plurality of 630. If these official figures are correct Clerk's plurality will be cut.

ASSASSIN WAS A DEGENERATE.

Madrid, Nov. 14.—An autopsy performed today revealed numerous signs of physiological and intellectual degeneration in the case of the assassin of Premier Canalejas, Manuel Hardinas. The weight of the brain was considerably below normal.

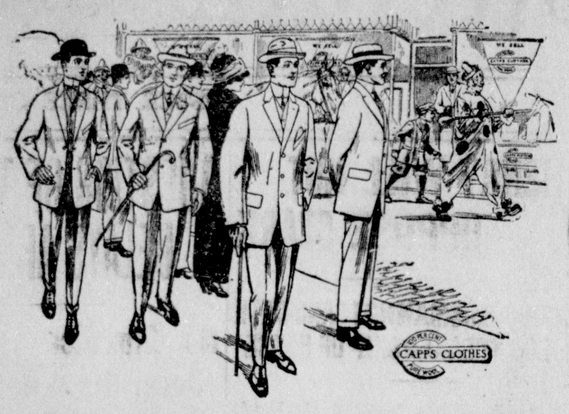

It was reported tonight that the police had arrested two anarchists who were engaged in a prominent politican, but the authorities are maintaining the greatest reserve.

GIRL'S DEATH MYSTERIOUS.

Boston, Nov. 14.—Pending an autopsy tomorrow the manner of death of Miss Marjorie G. Powers, 26 years old whose body was found today lying face down in a partly filled bathtub in a West End hotel, remained uncertain tonight.

The girl went to the hotel yesterday afternoon with a man who signed on the register the name of Mr. and Mrs. Davis. The man left later. This morning when repeated telephone calls failed to be answered from the room the door was forced and the body found.

Soon after the police were notified they visited the Faneuil hall market, where Miss Powers was employed as a stenographer and took into custody on suspicion her employer, Arthur T. Cunnings. He is 55 years old and married.

ONE MAN KNOWN TO HAVE BEEN DROWNED.

Captain Kerr, Keeper of Locks Awakened by Cries for Help, Sees One Man Go Down—Believed That There Were Others Drowned—One Thought to be William Moore of Chicago.

Beardstown, Nov. 14.—Thursday morning about 5:30 o'clock two motor boats, bound from Chicago to St. Louis, plunged over the government dam at the LaGrange locks, eleven miles south of here, when one man is known to have been drowned.

At the hour mentioned Captain Kerr, keeper of the locks was awakened by cries for help and when he reached the window of his residence, which is about 90 feet from the bank of the river he saw a man sink beneath the waves, at a point 100 feet below the dam. A duck hunter named Clark who was near the dam but quite a distance from the ill-fated craft saw the man sink but was unable to reach the spot to lend any assistance. Other parties heard the calls for help and saw two launches, one being towed by the other in the river above the dam a short time before the accident. According to their story it seems that the man or men in the boats had approached too close to the dam either without knowing it was there or with the intention of hazarding an attempt to drive the boats over it.

Tries to Turn Back.

Which ever was the case the man when last seen was seeking to get the boats back to a place of safety. He was too late, however, and the boat he was in was carried sidewise over the dam and into the swirling waters below. The other boat which was being towed, caught on the upper edge of the dam and hung, bow down.

The craft that went over the dam was found 100 yards below and taken ashore. It is a well built but peculiar shaped craft propelled by a four cylinder gasoline engine. The boat bears the name "The Five Dollar Bill." The other boat which was released from the dam and taken ashore, bore the name "A. P. Moore."

Boat's Name Gives Clue.

At the time of the tragedy no one who heard the cries or saw the man sink had the least clew as to who the victim of the accident was or as to the number of people in the two boats. After the boats were recovered and the names were read that clew was followed up with an exchange of telegrams between the authorities here and Chicago when it was learned that William Moore and a companion left Chicago in the two boats last Saturday. This leads people here to think that Mr. Moore was one of the victims.

From the hour that the boats were seen to go over the dam parties have kept up a diligent search for the body of the man who was seen to sink beneath the water, but at a late hour tonight their efforts proved fruitless.

Was Moving to St. Louis.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—William M. Moore, reported to have been drowned in the Illinois river near LaGrange this morning was a machinist, according to information obtained here tonight from Adam Weickler, Jr., builder of the "Five Dollar Bill" the launch in which Moore was enroute to St. Louis when it was capsized at the LaGrange dam. It had been reported to Mr. Weickler that only one man was with Moore at the time of the accident. Moore was transferring his residence to St. Louis. He had shipped his heavy property there by rail and was taking the boats there.

LAD MAKES SAD MISTAKE.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Had Jimmy Malbaum, who used to be in the special delivery service of the post-office department at the federal building, been reared on a farm, where he would have learned to distinguish between a skunk and a dog, he might still be a federal employe. Temporarily, at least, he is not.

Jimmy did not know the difference, and today when he went to a suburb to deliver a letter he tried to capture a pretty little black and white woods kitty in his mail bag. He did not catch the cat, which he called a "pup," but when he returned to Chicago he caught a lot of abuse.

Before he reached the federal building he had been thrown off four street cars. Then a postoffice clerk ran him out of the federal building. He took a letter to a hotel and four bell boys and a clerk run him into the street.

After that Jimmy's boys called him up by telephone and told him to return—later—much later.

ALLEN TRIAL CONTINUES.

Wytheville, W. Va., Nov. 14.—Doubt as to whether a hole in the chair occupied by Judge Thornton L. Massie at the time he was slain, was made by a bullet, was removed today in the trial of Sidna Allen when the chair was taken to pieces and the bullet itself found.

The defense has renewed its theory that Judge Massie was killed by one of the court officers on the groun that the bullet must have been fired from that corner of the room in which the officers were standing.

Clerk Goad, on whom the defense tries to place the blame, was a witness today. He was unshaken on cross-examination. Other witnesses told of alleged threats made against the court by Sidna Allen and his brother, Floyd Allen.

L. F. O'Donnell expected to go to Brown county today. On Monday he will go to Chicago and from there to Cleveland, O., on business.

WASHING OUT A WOUND.

Tincture of Iodine Is About the Safest Antiseptic to Use.

Carbolic acid, one of the most valuable antiseptics known to surgeons, is at the same time one of the most dangerous. It is used daily, almost hourly, by operators in the hospitals. The layman who understands its perils may wash wounds out with it safely, but the best surgeons say that inexperienced persons had better let it alone.

No wound should ever be bound up with bandages soaked in even the mildest solution of carbolic acid, for the skin absorbs it readily, and poisoning is apt to follow prolonged use. An eminent New York surgeon had a case a few weeks ago of a child whose finger had turned black after being dressed too long with a 2 per cent solution of carbolic acid, and when he called this paper's attention to the case he was expecting to be obliged to cut off the finger.

The most commonly used antiseptic is bichloride of mercury (corrosive sublimate), but this is one of the deadliest poisons known and as it has no color or odor is easily mistaken for water. To avoid this it is customary to color solutions of it. Colored tablets are made especially for making solutions of any given strength. Dr. Albert S. Morrow in "The Immediate Care of the Injured" says it should be used as a wet dressing on wounds in a solution of 1:2000 of 1:5000, the latter made by dissolving one 7½ grain tablet in 2½ quarts of water. As a wash for a wound it may be used in a 1:1000 solution (one 7½ grain tablet to a pint of water).

Iodine is another antiseptic that is highly recommended. It is used commonly on dirty wounds, where there is danger of infection and a doctor's services are not immediately available. In such cases the tincture of iodine is used pure and is applied by dipping a wad of cotton or antiseptic gauze in it and swabbing out the wound, being careful to penetrate this thoroughly.—New York World.

THE BLACK BALL.

A Cunning Scheme That Was Spoiled by Quick Thinking.

Two young men in a French village were called on to draw for conscription. One only was wanted to complete the number, and of the two who were to draw one was the son of a rich farmer and the other the child of a poor widow.

The farmer ingratiated himself with the superintendent of the ballot and promised him a present if he could find means to prevent his son from going in the army. In order to accomplish this the official put into the urn two black balls instead of one white and one black ball. When the young men came, he said:

"There are two balls, one black and one white, in the urn. He who draws the black one must serve. Your turn is first," pointing to the widow's son.

The latter, suspecting that all was not fair, approached the urn and drew one of the balls, which he immediately swallowed without looking at it.

"Why," said the superintendent, "have you done that? How are we to know whether you have drawn a black or a white ball?"

"Oh, that's very easy to discover," was the reply. "Let the other now draw. If I have the black, he must necessarily draw the white one."

There was no help for it, and the farmer's son, putting his hand into the urn, drew the remaining ball, which, to the satisfaction of the spectators, was a black one.

Power of the Spectroscope.

The almost uncanny power of the spectroscope, which has made it such a powerful instrument of research, is the following: If any element such as iron, copper, sodium and the like is heated sufficiently to be vaporized and the light of this heated vapor is analyzed by the spectroscope, it does not give a continuous spectrum, but only very narrow portions of the colors, so that in reality the view presented is that of a series of bright lines of the various colors. Each chemical element has its own characteristic set of lines.—Century.

Well Disposed Little Cousin.

A little girl who lives in a small town in Missouri wrote the following letter to her cousin: "We is all well, and mother's got the his Terricks, brother Tom is got the Hupin Kaugh, and sister Ann is got a babee, and I hope these few lines will find you the same. Your affecshunate kuzen."—Kansas City Times.

Music.

"Mrs. Irons, if that infernal cat of yours keeps me awake as he did last night I'll shoot him."

"I wouldn't blame you a bit if you did, Colonel Stormley. Only it wasn't the cat; one of my boarders is learning to play the oboe."—Chicago Tribune.

One View of It.

"But if she makes all her own dresses I should think she'd be a good wife for you. It shows she's industrious and sensible."

"Not for me, thank you. It simply shows how poor her father must be."—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Delay.

"Is your wife nearly ready? We ought to be going."

"She won't be a moment. She's just putting herself into her diamonds."—Fliegende Blatter.

If rich be not elated, if poor be not dejected.—Socrates.

SEEK IMMIGRANT PROTECTION.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—A national system of immigrant of protection and distribution will be built up if representatives of eighteen states attending the second annual meeting of the national conference of immigration land and labor officials here can bring sufficient influence to bear on congress. Exploitation of the immigrant by employment agencies, lodging houses and transportation companies would be a thing of the past if the bureau were organized it is argued. Efforts would be made to induce the immigrant not to stop in the city of entry, but to go to the south and west to take up agriculture or work in villages and towns.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS REVIVAL

Rev. Clyde Darsie Preaches on "Jacksonville's Greatest Sin"—Subject tonight, "The Most Indelible Record."

The crowd at the revival service at the Central Christian church last night filled the auditorium of the church and overflowed into the gallery. H. J. Henderson was at his best in leading the song service and the way the people sang was a revelation to themselves. The congregational singing has become one of the best features of the meetings. Mr. Darsie called for his scripture lesson from the congregation and met a hearty response. The male quartet seems to improve each night. Last night they sang "Remember Me, Oh Mighty One" with fine effect. Mrs. Taylor, of the Woman's college, brought tears to the eyes of some as she sang "Just For Today."

Mr. Darsie said there had been considerable speculation since the subject for the evening had been announced as to just what "Jacksonville's Greatest Sin" might be. Some might think it was the liquor traffic—that greatest organization against the work of the church. With its history of misery, its cradling of corrupt politics and its sapping of the strength of any community it certainly deserved notice as one of the leading vices.

Others might look upon gambling as the chief offense. Looked upon as an evil by even the most degraded peoples, it seemed to burn like fever in the blood, and made its victim inconsiderate of every other end. The speaker paid his respects in passing to murder, which, because it took that which it was impossible to return, and because of the untold possibilities of a human life, is punished by the greatest penalty under the common law. He also mentioned a slanderous tongue, said by James to be filled with deadly poison and to be set on fire by hell. Covetousness was another sin that underlies many of the others and is responsible for the sweat shop system, child labor and the unsanitary tenament—all of them advance agents of death. Covetousness is known as the respectable vice, but the Bible classes it with drunkenness, thieving, adultery and idolatry.

Mr. Darsie, after reviewing many sins, said that in his opinion the greatest sin of Jacksonville was the breaking of the greatest law of God's word which Jesus says is: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy mind." He said he knew many would think he had made an anti-climax in saying this and classing the one who refused his allegiance to God below the saloon keepers, the gamblers, the murderers, the slanderers and the covetous. But on second thought anybody knew that the so-called moral man was enjoying the benefits of chrisitanity and its influence without giving anything in return. And not only is he a "sponge" but when his motives are analyzed, he is willing to ignore the rights of God to his life. What makes the other sins awful is the disregard they have for the rights of other human beings. But when a man refuses to acknowledge the rights of God to his life, he is worse than one who betrays his benefactor, or disgraces his father, or breaks the heart of his mother, who have sacrificed everything for him.

Mr. Darsie closed with a burning appeal to those who had not acknowledged God's right to their lives to do so, and four young people responded to the invitation, confessing their faith in Jesus as their Saviour

The subject for the sermon for tonight will be "The Most Indelible Record."

Interest reports from the officers were heard and a splendid report of the recent meeting in Champaign was given by Mrs. Dora Lowdermilk.

Two appeals for help were read and a committee appointed to take charge of same. Plans were made so that a response from each member would be expected at monthly meetings, giving the answer to one of the enigmas in the "W. H. M. S.," sending the same if unable to be present.

Miss Edna Stout will take charge of the children's department of "Home Guards" and "Mothers Jewels."

Adams, Black, Bowe, Cole, Crouch, Hairgrove, Pitner, Woltman, Ogram and Stacy, and Drs. Foley, Blair, Leonard and Pratt from the State hospital. The meeting was given over to the reports of cases that occur in their different practices. The advantage to be gained by systematic co-operation in the study of hospital and private practice cases was thoroughly brought out. By such co-operation the fullest scientific, educational and beneficial results both for the patient and the physicians and surgeons are to be obtained. The meeting was very profitable for all who were fortunate enough to be present.

CHARGED WITH USING MAILS TO DEFRAUD.

New York, Nov. 14.—James J. Farmer, head of the Anglo-American Authors association, was arrested on charge of using the mails to defraud county incident with the conclusion today of a civil suit in which judgment of $42,977 was returned against him and others because they sold Mrs. Emma M. Burd of Salt Lake City a collection of books upon the representation that were recent volumes. Mrs. Burd sued for $47,650, the approximate $5,000 judgment representing the true value of the books as appraised by an expert. While the original action was brought against receivers for the former publishing firm of Kellar-Farmer, judgment was given against the defendants named individually, James J. Farmer, his son, Glen Farmer, and the Anglo-American Authors association, which Farmer managed after dissolution of the Kellar-Farmer company.

The arrest, just before the verdict was returned, was made upon the charge that Farmer, in the name of the Anglo-American Authors association, used the mails to falsely represent the books sold to Mrs. Burd as being of "a great and unusual value."

Farmer's examination was set for Tuesday.

The demonstration opened with a meeting in the court house. After an address by Mrs. Callean the women marched from the building and the bonfire was lighted. Every one carried an old bonnet. With a cue from the hairman bonnett's of every hue sailed through the air. Then, joining hands, the women marched around the blazing "lids" and proclaimed their vicotry.

GRAND JURY VISITS COUNTY POOR FARM

The semi-annual inspection of the Morgan county poor farm was made by the members of the Grand Jury Thursday. The members left here at 9 o'clock and at the noon hour were served a sumptuous dinner by Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Lewis, Mrs. Lewis being assisted by a number of ladies. The premises were inspected by the members and they will make their report today.

FARMERS REPUDIATES RESPONSIBILITY

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 14.—Farmers of many states represented through delegates to the National Grange, in session here, repudiated responsibility today for the high cost of living.

Reports from nearly every state touched upon this question. Their tenor was that the farmer gets but a small portion for his investment and furthermore gets only from 30 to 40 per cent of what his products cost the consumer. Co-operative marketing was advocated as a remedy for high prices.

PRESBYTERIAN CONVENTION.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 14.—The fifth national convention of the Brotherhood of the United Presbyterian church closed here tonight. Dr. McClurkin of Pittsburg, closed the convention, speaking on "the Indwelling Presence."

"The masses are getting away from the church," he said, "and even the ministry is falling off. But God is looking for men of the Indwelling presence, men that carry the spirit of Christ and they will carry on the work of the church. I see today as the dawn of a new era for the church, in which it will grow and stretch over the face of the earth."

TO COMMENCE REFORMS AT ONCE.

Fort Wayne, nd., Nov. 14—"Within thirty days from the inauguration of Woodrow Wilson as president, Democracy will have commenced to work upon the reforms that have been promised by the party in the event of its success," Governor Thomas R. Marshall, vice-president-elect, said in an address before the Twelfth District Democrats at their jollification dinner here tonight at which he was the guest of honor.

"There is no occasion for any man to fear a panic," he continued. "Democracy does not purpose overthrowing at one stroke all the existing institutions. It is not the policy to destroy in thirty minutes that which it has taken thirty years to create.

"When giant corporations use their power to create a standard of false prices and to grind down the workingman, it is time to cry halt. The Democratic administration purposes hunting down the evil-doers relentlessly."

Governor Marshall declared that nothing further can come out of so-called Progressive movement except Socialism.

SANGAMON MINE MERGER.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 14.—A merger of twenty-five of the principal coal mines of Sangamon county may be effected as the result of Frank S. Peabody, head of the Peabody Coal company, securing options on the mines.

Mr. Peabody several months ago had options on the mines in question but the options were allowed to expire. He had not had an opportunity of making an examination of the finances and conditions of the mines and thought that the price asked was too high. He secured renewals of the options, some of which expire Dec. 15, 1912, and others on Jan. 1, 1913, and he has men here auditing the boks on a number of the properties. The options which he has now secured will total $3,500,000.

P. Grandfield. This he announced in a talk to the postmasters' association of New England tonight.

He predicted the limit of weight of parcels post matter would soon be raised from 11 to 100 pounds. He wanted the rate in the first zone reduced, he said, otherwise the parcels post could not compete with the express companies.

The man left the hotel without being seen by employes.

TRAIN KILLS MOB'S VICTIM.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 14.—To escape harm by a mob, James Cain, a wealthy young farmer stepped in front of a fast Illinois Central train at Rantoul and was killed.

Cain seriously wounded his 18 year old sweetheart, Dorothy Lowery here last night because she would not marry him.

He hit her on the head with a hammer and fractured her skull. The girls relatives spread an alarm and a mob formed and pursued Cain through the country last night.

Entirely Too Emphatic.

"Then you won't marry me?"

"No; a thousand times no!"

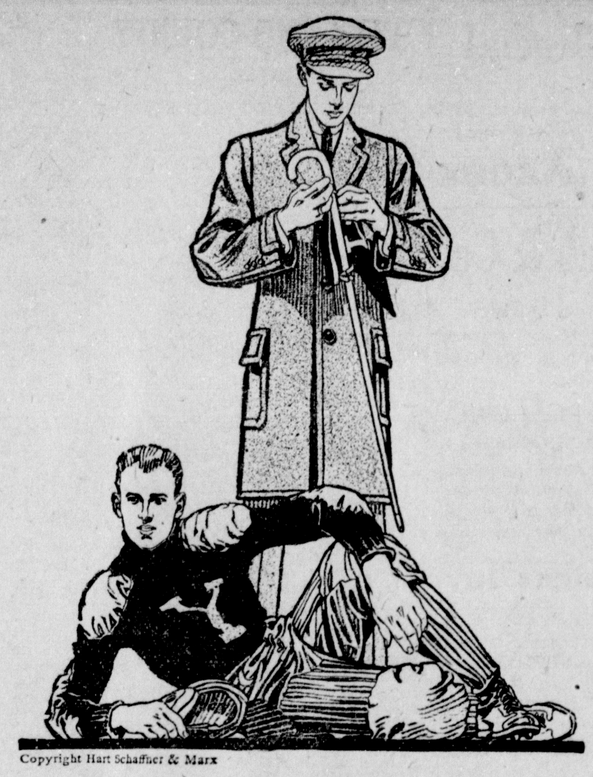

"You don't need to say no a thousand times," retorted the rejected suitor resentfully. "I only asked you once."—Pittsburgh Post.

The Beginning of Illinois

The following completes the very valuable paper on "The Beginning of Illinois," presented before the D. A. R. at a recent meeting. The first installment was published Nov. 6.

the soil of Illinois, but there had been some Indian slaves. Large grants of land were made to Renault, and within the past few years letters have been received by the governor and attorney general of Illinois from descendants of Renault in France, making claims to lands in Illinois under these old grants. Illinois then passed many happy years, disturbed only by occasional Indian battles, for the Indians were in the main friendly to the French, who took readily to their ways, the woodland life, hunting, trapping and fishing, and many Frenchmen married Indian women. The sad death of the young commandant, Pierre D'Artaquette, at the Chickasaw Bluff in 1736, where he with a priest and others, was burned at the stake by the savages, is a sad story but fortunately a rare one, in French-Indian history. D'Artaquette was so young and so brave that his sad fate thrilled all France, and it is said that a song was composed in his honor which was sung for a century, and a modern writer tells of hearing slaves sing it in the south only a generation ago.

Fort Massac.

This was built to prevent, as far as possible the inroads of the British who were moving westward down the Ohio. Fort Massac is well known to you, but its history is most romantic and its location is most beautiful. It is situated on a high bluff of the Ohio river overlooking the Kentucky shore, and the mouth of the Cumberland river. This place L'Estrange seems to describe as a halting place for De Soto's men, here an Indian village was located, here the trading post of Juchereau St. Denis was located, and the mission of the Assumption. The official fort was built in 1756 by the French under Charles Phillippe Aubry, one of the bravest of the many brave French officers in America. It was called Fort Massac for M. de Massac, minister of marine and colonies for France at the time. A legend is that it was called Fort Massacre, because on one autumn day the soldiers of the fort were walking and lounging on the beautiful parade grounds when they thought they saw across the river a number of bears, large and small, seemingly on the bank of the river for play and for food. The lonely and solitary soldiers saw a prospect for rare sport and so they all, officers and private soldiers, crossed the river in boats, leaving hardly a guard in the fort. These bears were only Indians covered with the skins of bears and walking on all fours, which seen from across the river completely deceived the soldiers. When the men landed, the Indians rushed out of the bushes and killed them all and a party of savages also attacked the few left at the fort, killing nearly every one of them. This the old settlers tell as the reason for the name Fort Massacre, but I do not vouch for the authenticity of the story.

George Rogers Clark, with his little band of 154 men landed in a little creek near Fort Massac and as you know he represented the new government of the United States, or properly speaking, the state of Virginia, and here then for the first time were the colors of the federal union or what represented it, raised on the soil of the state of Illinois. No wonder then, that the Daughters of the American Revolution have raised here a monument to Clark and his soldiers, and to commemorate the greatness of their deeeds, and that through the efforts of the D. A. R. the state of Illinois has purchased it and maintains it as a state park. Here Aaron Burr and Gen. James Wilkinson are said to have rested when planning their schemes to found a new empire in the west; and here the unfortunate Blennerhassett may have come when trying to follow the fortunes of Aaron Burr. Certain it is that Burr's idolized daughter, Theodosia, and her little son visited the Blennerhassetts in the island home which was then an earthly paradise, soon to be destroyed because Blennerhassett had allied himself with the Burr expedition. The story of Harman Blennerhassett and his wife, Margaret Agnew, is one of the most pitiful in our history, but I weary you with so much detail.

French-Illinois.

Before the arrival of the English there came the halycon days for French-Illinois, over the memory of which we love to linger. The Indians were kept in check, harvests were abundant, New Orleans and all lower Louisiana being almost entirely dependent upon the Illinois country for supplies, and the trips to New Orleans by batteaux, were important events in the life of the colonists. Robert Hunter, once governor of Virginia, said "He ought to be a cunning man who treats with the Indians," and "therefore," says an English writer, "the French leave it to the Jesuits," and indeed the church and the priest made up a large part of the life of the French habitants and their Indian neighbors, the priest taking part in all the events of the lives, not disdaining their merrymakings. The French villages all had their common fields, where cattle were herded, and grain, fruits and vegetables were rised. Houses which might have had large and beautiful grounds, for land was cheap, were built close togther, all with wide porches or galleries, upon which the families sat in the summer evenings gossiping, laughing and singing. The houses and little door yards were filled with flowers; in the woodlands nearby was plenty of game; wild grapes to make their wines were abundant, the children made merry in their grape vine swings, and life though far in the wilderness was happy for those simple folk who were so far away that rumors of war reached them but slowly. The merrymakings were christenings, weddings, fete days or birthdays, and above all saints' days, church holidays and dancing was their especial form of amusement. Then the New Years' feasts were a wonderful celebration called the gui annee, when parties of young men disguised as beggers or strangers, went from house to house singing their carols and urging all to come and dance the old years out, and how they danced, old and young; but this is not history, it is gossip. Mrs. Laura Dayton Fessenden, our gifted former state regent, has given us a little poem on Kaskaskia which I will read for you.

'Twas a day in May, the sky was fair,
A wealth of fragrance filled the air,
From wildwood blossoms on bush and tree,
All the birds were singing; the drowsy bee
Was abroad and taking his hoard
From the deep throated flowers of Kaskaskia.

In a trapper's hut in a forest glade,
Beside a wheel sat a little maid.
She was singing a ballad quaint and sweet
And these were the words she did repeat
That morning in Kaskaskia.

Dear heart, sweetheart, where'er thou be
'Tis dreaming ever I am of thee
Praying that love, like a guiding star
May bear you this message where'er you are
'Tis this sweetheart I loved you here
Here in the woods of Kaskaskia.

Dear heart, sweetheart, where'er thou be
'Tis draming ever I am of thee
Praying that love like a guiding star
Wil bear this message where'er you are
'Tis this sweetheart, I love you, dear,
Love you there, as I loved you here,
Here in the woods of Kaskaskia.

For the English were steadily encroaching over the mountains from Virginia and Pennsylvania, claiming the land from "sea to sea," while some French authorities claimed tha the Illinois country included all the territory including the basin of Lake Winnepeg on the theory of the connection of it with the Mississippi river by continuous waterways, and the maps of Joillot and Homain so give it.

But the French star was on the wane. We first hear now of our young George Washington who was sent into the western wilderness by Governor Dinwiddie on the Indian service in 1753 in an attempt to reach Fort LeBoeuf to learn of French and Indian plans. We have his journal of the expedition, and his report that there was "no way left of protecting the frontiers except by force." The next year Washington led an attack on the French posts in the Ohio valley in which the French commander, Jumonville, was killed, and which was followed by the capitulation of Fort Necessity. The tales of the wars of France and England are a wearying repetition all of their quarrels and claims against each other which led to the breaking out of the French and Indian war, as it was called in America or the Seven Years' war in Europe.

Governor Thomas said, "You must either drive the French back to their lakes or they will drive you into the sea." In March, 1755, the English government announced to parliament that war with France was inevitable. All during the war Illinois supplied provisions to the French troops by way of the Mississippi and Ohio rivers. For the first two years the fortunes of war appeared to favor France, but the tide turned only to reach a climax upon the 13th of September, 1759, upon the plains of Abraham near Quebec, when the two commanders, General Wolfe, the English commander, and the French commander, General Montcalm, each lost his life, but France also lost the battle and through it eventually all of her possessions in America. The treaty of Paris was signed February 10, 1763, by representatives of England, France, Spain and Portugal.

even Years' War Ends.

When the Seven Years' war closed Illinois was a part of the country ceded by France to England. The French settlements were Kaskaskia at the extreme south in Randolph county, near where Chester, Illinois, is now situated, though there is still a village of Kaskaskia; seventeen miles north was Prairie du Rocher, still in existence; just northwest of Prairie du Rocher was Fort Chartres, and Cahoka, forty-five miles called Nouveile Chartres; St. Philippe, five miles north of Fort Chartres, and Cahogia, forty-five miles north, now included as I have said, in the present city of East St. Louis.

In 1760, nearly three years before the treaty of Paris had been signed, the British had taken possession of practically every port in the ceded territory except Fort Chartres and the Illinois, and though attempts were made by British troops to reach the Illinois in February, 1764, the troops under Major Loftus were attacked by Indians and obliged to turn back. The Indians were probably incited to the attack by Pontiac. St. Ange was in command at Fort Chartres, and he longed to surrender his charge of a fort belonging to a nation which was the enemy of and had conquered his country, but it was not until the 9th of October, 1765, that Captain Sterling reached Fort Chartres and on the next day the fort was formally turned over to him. With this event French rule in the Mississippi valley was closed. Pontiac, that wonderful Indian, had been a lion in the British path and Mr. Mason says the French and Spanish officers laughed at the English for not immediately taking possession of a fort which had been ceded to them, saying, "You ought to make a new tratly with King Pontiac." For Pontiac had assembled the Illinois Indians near Fort Chartres and threatened them into doing his bidding and they had gone to Fort Chartres and begged St. Ange to fight the British. I would like to tell you of the conspiracy of Pontiac but it would take too much time. When St. Ange and his retinue left Fort Chartres, Illinois became a British colony subject to his majesty, George the III, and the white banner of the Bourbons gave way to the cross of St. George.

British Occupy.

The British occupation was but thirteen years in length and was a prosperous time, for emigrants of the English and Scotch-Irish races came pouring in, but the occupation of Fort Chartres by the British was short, only sevene years, for says, Mr. Mason, "The Mississippi was a French river and could not abide that any other other nation should occupy Fort Chartres, the great stone fort, the pride of France in America, and so on a stormy night in the spring time it rose in its resistless might and tore away a bastion and part of the river wall, and the British garrison fled to Kaskaskia, and after that time, 1772, Fort de Charters was never occupied as a military post, and the military headquarters were at Fort Gage on the hills above Kaskaskia, so named for the British general.

In the British board of trade papers bearing date of July 10, 1766, is a letter entitled, "Reasons for Establishing a British Colony at the Illinois, with some proposals for carrying the same into immediate execution." It begins: "The country of the Illinois on the Mississippi is genarally allowed to be the most fertile and pleasant part of all the western territory now in the possession of the English in North America. The French Canadians have long called it The Terrestrial Paradise." Then follows many pages of descriptions and plans for colonizing the country. The English tried to do these things and met with fair success, but the colonies were marching westward, with the star of empire, its hour was at hand, the sweep of the frontiersman came steadily onward, across the mountains and down the rivers, and though England's brave soldiers fought Indians and Long Knives all over the continent, Kaskaskia was left unprotected and the commandant, the Chevalier de Rocheblave, a French Canadian in the English service, sat trembling in his quarters at Fort Gage, as well he might. Then came oud own people, your people and my people, and this fair land of Illinois, the Frenchman's "Terrestrial Paradise," in 1778 under the gallant George Rogers Clark and his brave men to its own.

I ought to mention Fort Russell, Fort Clark, Fort Gage, the battle of Campbell's Island, and the engagements of the Black Hawk war, the Indian creek massacre, and I surely ought not to omit the story of the massacre of Fort Dearborn in August, 1812, but I wil desist. Many of these historical sites have been properly marked, all of them ought to be. The seven towns where the Lincoln-Douglas debates were held, Alton and the great work of Elijah P. Lovejoy, Nauvoo, the home of The Mormons and the Icarians, Mound City and Camp Douglas, Camp Duncan and Camp Butler. Indeed, I could talk to you for hours and still have things to say about historic places of Illinois, for my theme is entrancing—the historic places of Illinois. Ah, but all of Illinois is historic, from Chicago to Cairo and from Warsaw and Nauvoo to Vincennes, all are historic spots. The saintly Marquette, the intrepid LaSalle, the gentle priests, the Jesuits, the Black Gowns, the Recollects or gray gowns, the teachers of our ancestors, their examples and guides, the conservative English, the mercurial Irish, the solemn covenanters, the pilgrims and puritans, the cavaliers and the hardy backwoodsmen have all been united to make up the Illinoisan of to day, the heirs of all these traits and attributes, and how great and beautiful is the inheritance, the land of the prairies. 'My father said that he as a child came overland from Kentucky to Illinois, and the exquisite beauty of the wild prairie flowers and the seas of waving grass made an impression upon him which he never forgot, and that in after life he would often close his eyes and try to bring back a mental picture of its wondrous beauty.

William Cullen Bryant, who visited his brother, Mr. John H. Bryant, of Bureau county, wrote of the prairies of Illinois:

"These are the gardens of the desert, these,
The unshorn fields, boundless and beautiful
For which the speech of England has no name,
The prairies, I behold them for the first
And my heart swells, while the dilated sight
Takes in the encircling vastness, Lo they stretch
In airy undulations far away
As if the ocean in her gentles swell
Stood still, with all her rounded billows fixed
And motionless forever."

FOR PURE MILK.

The management of Passavant hospital has arranged to have an inspection made of the food and surroundings of the cows which furnish the milk used at the institution and has also arranged with Dr. Grace Dewey to analyze the milk so as to be sure of a good article. This is not intended as any slight or offense toward the persons who furnish the milk for they will be as glad as any to be informed if anything is wrong with their cattle and it is surely a move in the right direction at the hospital.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM Baking Powder

Purity in food, lower cost of living—these are the demands of the day.

Pure food is health, and health is economy itself. We cannot have health without healthful food.

The most healthful foods are the quickly raised flour foods—biscuit, cake, muffins, crusts and other pastry when perfectly made from wholesome ingredients.

Dr. PRICE'S baking powder makes these foods in specially attractive, appetizing and wholesome form, and for both economic and hygienic reasons, such foods should be more largely substituted for meat in the daily diet.

But bear in mind that alum, or unwholesome baking powder, can never make pure, wholesome food.

CRACKERS BEND.

When Cap Taylor hoodooed the Mitchell car on sale day, he did it good and plenty, for he failed to start her up again and we were compelled to accept the kindness of our neighbor for transportation. M. O. Smith was kind enough to take us and Mrs. McCarty to Concord on the way to Beardstown, where we found our brother, Sam Goodpasture, had met with a serious accident by his carelessness with the gas in his room in the Goodell hotel. We went down to render all assistance we could to the unfortunate victim of the deadly fluid; also to investigate the why and wherefore of the accident. After a thorough investigation we found no criminal negligence in the case. The gas fixtures were all right and we had a conversation with Mr. and Mrs. Mirus, proprietors of the Goodell hotel, and found them to be intelligent and capable.

Mr. Goodpasture retired at 9:30, after requesting the clerk to call him in time for the 6 oclock train. When theclerk called him in the morning he received no response, and detecting the small of escaping gas, immediately forced the door, finding Mr. Goodpasture unconscious. Everything was done for the good of the unfortunate man, but he was so near the border of the land of shadows that he rallied very slowly.

About the first question asked after such an accident is: "How did it happen?" Everything goes to prove that Mr. Goodpasture got up sometime during the night to see what time it was and failed to turn the gas off. When found, the jet was wide open and had it been so all night, he would have been dead before morning. After seeing the sick man placed in one of the best sanitariums in the city, in the care of one of the most careful nurses in central Illinois, we decided to have a few hours' visit. All of our readers along the north side of the county remember Dr. J. M. Palmer and family, formerly of Arcadia. The doctor was a special friend of ours and Mrs. Mc always had a great liking for Mrs. Palmer and her daughter "Bill". In talking church work with Mrs. Palmer we wondered how she ever found any time to work for herself. We were glad to hear that Miss "Bill" Palmer bids fair to make a fine musician. Probably we had better apologize to our readers and especially to some friend of Arcadia for calling Miss Palmer "Bill." We know her right name is Wylla, and we assure you that she is known in Beardstown as "Bill." She is a sweet girl and would grace any name.

We also had the pleasure of meeting an old friend in the doctor's office, Judge Phillips, a life long Democrat and a friend of our family.

FOR CORNS, BUNIONS YOU NEED EZO.

Just Rub it on Sore, Weary Feet, and Misery Vanishes—Ask for EZO for the Feet.

Every reader of the Journal knows that EZO, the refined ointment, is the real remedy for sore, aching, painful, burning, tender feet; but how many know that it is also guaranteed to extract the burning agony from those terrible Corns, Bunions or Callouses or money back at Armstrong's Drug Store, or druggists everywhere.

Of Twenty-Eight States Who Elected Governors Only Nine Re-Elected Their Present Executives.

Washington, Nov 14.—Many changes among the chief executives of the different states will take place next January as a result of the recent elections. Baldwin, Democrat, of Connecticut; Eugene N. Foss, Democrat, of Massachusetts; Adolph O. Eberhart, Republican, of Minnesota; Coleman L. Blease, Democrat, of South Carolina; Ben W. Hooper, Republican-Fusion, of Tennessee; Oscar B. Colquitt, Democrat, of Texas; William Spry, Republican, of Utah; Francis E. McGovern, Republican, of Wisconsin, and Aram J. Pothier, Republican, of Rhode Island.

Governor Marshal lof Indiana, who will be vice president of the United States after March 4, will be succeeded by another Democrat, Samuel M. Rolston, of Lebanon.

In Iowa, Governor Carroll, Republican, will be succeeded by George W. Clarke, also a Republican. Mr. Clarke at present is lieutenant governor.

Louis B. Hanna, Republican, who is to become governor of North Dakota in succession to John Burke, Democrat, has been a representative in congress since 1909.

Frank M. Byrne, Republican, elected to succeed Governor Vessey of South Dakota, is at present lieutenant governor of the state.

Ernest Lister, a leader in Democratic politics in Tacoma, will succeed M. E. Hay, Republican, as governor of the state of Washington.

Dr. Hatfield is a friend of President Taft, though he ran on a Republican Progressive ticket. He is a nephew of "Cap" Hatfield, the clan leader who managed to fill columns of newspaper space in the days when the famous Hatfield-McCoy feud flourished in the mountains of West Virginia and Kentucky.

NEW HEAD FOR CANADIAN BANKERS.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 14.—Representative bankers and financiers from all parts of the dominion were present today at the opening of the annual convention of the Canadian Bankers' association. Interest in the meeting centers largely in the choice of a successor to Sir Edward Clouston, Bart., who has announced his desire to retire from the presidency of the association. D. R. Wilkie, president of the Imperial Bank of Canada, appears to be the strongest possibility for the office.

Eats Freely But Has No Dyspepsia

Takes a Mild Laxative With Good Pepsin and Insures His Comfort and Pleasure.

Fortunate is the man who can eat "anything" without suffering the tortures of dyspepsia, but as few are so fortunate care should be taken in the matter of diet. Eating slowly, masticating the food thoroughly and taking a short walk after the heavy meal of the day will do much towards assisting digestion. Any grown-up person ought to know the peculiar foods that do not agree, and these should be avoided.

When these common-sense aids fail, the next thing to do is to take a mild digestive tonic with laxative properties, and there is none better than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains the greatest of all aids to digestion, good pepsin. It has other ingredients that act mildly on the bowels, and combined it forms a combination for the relief of dyspepsia or indigestion that is unsurpassed.

Its action is to tone and strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles so that they can again do their work naturally without outside aid, and when that happy moment comes all medicine can be dispensed with. It is the best remedy obtainable for any disorder of the stomach, liver and bowels, for dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, headaches, drowsiness after eating, gas on the stomach, etc. Thousands of users will testify to this, among them Mr. J. Leonard, Route 5, Bangor, Mich., and Mr. J. Farfitt, 338 La May avenue, Detroit, Mich.

Syrup Pepsin is sure in its results and a vast improvement over chewing or swallowing tablets and mints, or taking cathartics, salts, etc., all of which are harsh and nauseous and at best do but temporary good. You can obtain Syrup Pepsin at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle.

MR. J. LEONARD.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 413 Washington street, Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

WHIRLWIND MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN NEARS COMPLETION BY CITIZENS

Soliciting Committees Expect to Reach the 400 Mark In Movement Toward Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce---Secretary Fritchey Makes Statement as to Work.

That the business men of Jacksonville are going to get together was never more clearly shown than now. The rounding up of nearly two hundred members as a result of two days' work in a record breaking canvass shows that the business men and citizens are responding to the cry of "get together, Jacksonville."

The committees met yesterday noon and went out to luncheon together and in response to an appeal from Secretary Fritchey those present again pledged their support. Each agreed to be responsible for the bringing of at least two others and join in to complete the campaign with a whirlwind finish.

While the campaign can already be termed a success it could be a greater success if the business men and citizens would lend greater support in making the canvass. Only about one third of eligibles have been interviewed, which means a big day's work to finish the campaign today.

Secretary Fritchey stated last evening: "Those who have been canvassing have been meeting with excellent results, though I regret to say that a great many of the business men who will reap the greatest benefits from a big, strong and efficient organization are not doing their share. We have repeatedly gone out and asked them to help and they invariably say they will but when the time comes to join they are not on hand. We must have more help if we are going to make the success that our efforts deserve. Every man in Jacksonville, business men particularly, are requested to report at 9 o'clock Friday morning at the association rooms and help to wind up the campaign in one tremendous effort. We can do this if we will. Put aside business engagements for just two hours tomorrow morning and join in to give Jacksonville a business organization of 400 members."

"Never mind what your grievances have been in the past. Turn your face to the front and look to the future. We have a pull that is up stream all the way and if we are to make headway we must do some pulling. It may be true that the organization has not done just what you would have it do, is not doing what you want it to do now, but you can best remedy that imperfection from the inside. Working on the inside gets outside results and if you will put in your share of "inside work," you will be surprised to find how much of that work will find its way to the surface. The trouble is that in the past we have put in our money but not our loyal support and the initiative and activity it takes to build a successful organization. We thought that putting in ten dollars a month paid in full the obligation. Now we are waking up to the fact that it did not. It was a mistake, we will all admit, but, must that mistake necessarily make us lose faith in our town or our ability to do things. Need we to throw up our hand and say 'no use to try to do anything for Jacksonville, we have lived here for forty years and we haven't done anything yet,' or 'the Business Men's Association has never done anything,' or any of a dozen other 'pull backs.' One would almost think that some of us had a mighty strong affection for those old skeletons, if we were to judge from the manner we parade them to each other. Let us quit looking backward. The future is the thing we are concerned with now. Let us get such a grip on it that nothing can shake us loose. Each man take a stand for the 'tomorrow,' grip the hand of your brother tradesman and make a united effort for the future of Jacksonville."

Committees that were out working yesterday were:

How to Make CALUMET Biscuit

To see how delightful baking can be, get a can of Calumet Baking Powder—and try this delicious recipe:

Calumet Biscuit.
1 heaping teaspoonful Calumet Baking Powder.
1 level teaspoon of salt.
2 rounding tablespoons butter or lard.
½ cup of milk.
¼ cup of water.

Sift flour once, then measure, add salt and baking powder and sift three times, rub shortening in with fork or spoon, add milk and water, turn out on a well floured board and roll one inch thick, cut and bake in a quick oven about twelve to fifteen minutes.

And then when they come piping hot from the oven, light and fluffy and wholesome—butter and taste.

That's the Calumet test—always. Everything baked with Calumet must be as good—or a little better—than bakings made with other brands.

Calumet is moderate in price—economical in use. Your grocer knows—ask him.

EBENEZER CORN HUSKING BEE.

For three or four days past, the people of Ebenezer and surrounding communities have been surprised and shocked to see young ladies out on the road driving teams and big wagons; but it did not take much inquiry for them to find out that these young ladies were out in the interests of the Ebenezer Epworth league, which was planning a husking bee at Clarence Kinnett's new barn for Wednesday evening. The collectors appointed were Misses Edna Reid, Florence Blackburn and Muriel Standley, and they were permitted to choose their own helpers. Everyone in the neighborhood joined heartily in the good cause, and the collectors were refused a donation of corn in only one place.

When the time for the "bee" arrived, there was a huge pile of corn in the spacious hayloft, and plenty of jolly young people to help husk it. The judges for the evening were Messrs. Lowry, C. E. Patterson and Austin Patterson, and after the two sides had been chosen with Otis Mason and Lloyd Moss as captains, the following rules and regulations were announced by the judges. All corn was to be scooped to the center against either side of the division of hay-bales, and, when husked, thrown against the wall. The work was to be judged upon clean husking, speed and orderly conduct. Speed was to be counted fifty points, thoroughness forty, and deportment ten.

At the given signal everyone started at work in real earnest, and the corn hit the walls like hail. In eight minutes the side led by Otis Mason raised a victorious cheer, and in one minute more the other side had finished its pile, equally confident of having won he prize. Each pile was carefully examined, and after long consultation, the judges, with Mr. Lowry as spokesman, awarded the prize to Otis Mason and his helpers. It was a large box of candy, and Mr. Mason was generous enough to share with the losing side as well.

Refreshments for the evening consisted of popcorn, doughnuts and coffee made on Mrs. Kinnett's range. Everyone had a fine time, and the occasion was a profitable one for the Epworth League, as one pile of corn sold to Rev. Mr. Houck for forty-two cents per bushel, and the other to Everett Clampit for forty-one cents. Mr. Houck acted as auctioneer. It is the intention of the league to make the "husking bee" an annual affair.

Notice is hereby given that a special meeting of the stockholders of Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis railroad company will be held on December 20, 1912, at 10 o'clock a. m. at the principal office of the company iyn the Booth building, Springfield, Illinois, for the purpose, among other purposes, of taking action with respect to the authorization by the stockholders of the execution and delivery of the company's general and refunding mortgage, to be dated January 2, 1913, to Bankers Trust company, trustee, or to such other trustee as the stockholders may select, to secure an issue of not to exceed fifteen million ($15,000,000.00) dollars, in aggregate principal amount at any one time outstanding of general and refunding four and one-half per cent. Gold bonds, payable December 1, 1939, and for the purpose of taking action upon such other matters as may properly be brought before the meeting.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

"Pa" Corbin, the old Yale star, is at New Haven helping to put the Elis through their paces.

Some of the football critics are claiming that Pennock, the Harvard lineman, is all-American material.

"Hell Devil" Skillman of Nassau is lacking prestige as a football result prognasticator. He figured the Tigers would defeat Harvard 14 to 12.

The loss of Captain "Jack" Hegarty, who had to retire from the game on account of a broken ankle, is a severe blow to the Georgetown eleven.

Both Penn and Cornell have made use of moving picture machines as aids in football development. Perhaps that accounts for their poor showing this season.

The Vanderbilt university eleven has played four eastern teams in its history—the Carlisle Indians in 1905, the Navq in 1906, Yale in 1910 and Harvard in 1912.

Rumor has it that Tol Pendleton, the Princeton football and baseball star, is to become a professional ball player next year and sign with the Washington Americans.

Bill Langford, the best referee in the country today, officiated at the Penn.-Michigan game, and will referee the coming game between Yale and Princeton and Harvard and Yale.

The Princeton football squad has three pairs of brothers and another pair of players of the same name. The brothers are the Swart boys, the Wallers and the Trenkmans, while the Bakers, "Stew" and "Hobey" are not related.

SEEK TO RECOVER PROPERTY.

New York, Nov. 14.—The government brough suit here today against James B. Haggan of this city to recover $2,512,954, representing the value of cord wood and other timber alleged to have been cut wrongfully by the Anaconda company from naturay lands in Montana between August 1884 and January, 1896.

The Anaconda company was a partnership composed originally of the defendant Haggan, Marcus Daly, George Hurst, Phoebe A. Hearst and Leonard Tevis.

PRESIDENT TAFT HOLDS RECEPTION

Series of Social Functions Mark Session of Convention of United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Washington, Nov. 14.—A brilliant series of social functions, centering about a reception by President Taft, marked today's session of the convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The president received nearly a thousand of the daughters in the east room of the white house. He was assisted by Mrs. Taft and as the visitors filed by, the president had a hearty hand shake and a word of greeting for each. A score of receptions and dinners for the various groups of the daughters were given by Washington society women.

Today's business sessions were confined largely to the receipt of the reports of the officers and committees.

Two delegates to the convention will visit the naval academy at Annapolis and will be the guest of Gov. Goldsborough.

A SUCCESSFUL FARMER.

Morgan county has a number of successful farmers who have done her credit and have given a character to the vicinity and among them may be mentioned the oJurnal's esteemed friend, Patrick Shanahan, four miles south of the city.

Like many others of his kind Mr. Shanahan began life in an humble way with small capital in money but with a clear head, strong hands and an honest character coupled with energy and industry and such characteristics were sure to win. He went to work with a worthy helpmeet and they were the parents of a fine family. Their girls were all boys, eight of them and they have grown up to do their parents honor. Two have left them for the other world and six remain. One is in business with his cousin on East State street, two are farming for themselves and three are at home.

Mr. Shanahan has a little garden patch of 346 acres of land and it is easy to estimate his wealth and he can look everybody in the face "For he owes not any man."

Though past the allotted three score and ten he is yet hale and hearty and bids fair to be with his friends for a good many years to come. His excellent wife is also healthy and vigorous and today can do more than many a lady far younger.

Mr. Shanahan has a beautiful home in which he takes an honest pride and it is neat and well kept. He has a good variety of buildings and all are in good order, his house is neat and attractive and the grounds about it are well kept and green with the beautiful blue grass which makes such a fine lawn.

A short time since the writer had the pleasure of enjoying the generous hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Shanahan and was well entertained and served with a splendid dinner as would be expected in that home. All was of the best and abundant as well and the visit was one of much pleasure to the scribe.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Miller Huggins, the new manager of the Cardinals, is a lawyer and a member of the Ohio bar.

Catcher Jim Archer says that he will demand a real salary before he signs with the Cubs for 1913.

Manager Jack Dunn, of the Baltimore team, has asked waivers on Barney Pelty, former pitcher of the St. Louis Browns.

Pat Flaherty, the old Pittsburg-Boston pitcher, is an applicant for the job as manager of the Elmira club of the New York State league.

Joe Birmingham will take up his duties with the Cleveland Naps next season as bench manager if he can find a man to hold down his place in the outfield.

The Connecticut league has granted franchises to New London, Conn., and Pittsfield, Mass., forming an eight-club circuit for next season.

The Superbas under the management of Jake Daubert have been playing exhibition games around Brooklyn. The team is called the "Daubet Dodgers."

Omer Lennon of the St. Paul club is scouring the country for a capable manager to succeed Mike Kelley, who has signed as pilot of the Indianapolis team.

It is said that Hank O'Day, the old National League umpire, and last season manager of the Cincinnati Reds, is to become a member of the American league staff of umpires.

PAPERS COMPLY WITH LAW.

Washington, Nov. 14. — To date 23,500 publications of all kinds have complied with the so-called newspaper publicity law which requires them to file with the postmaster general and their postmaster a statement of their business organization and circulation.

It includes 1,908 daily newspapers or 76 per cent of the entire number.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has so far served no notices upon publications that they may be deprived of the privileges of the mails if they do not comply with the law, because a test case involving the constitutionality of the act now is pending before the United States supreme court.

ESTABLISH COMMUNICATION.

Washington, Nov. 14. — Communication between the naval wireless station at Mare Island near San Francisco and the monster new station at Arlington, Va., on the Virginia side of the Potomac river here, was established today for the first time. The points are 2,117 miles apart. Them essage heard here was going to Key West and was not received distinctly.

The armored cruiser Tennessee now on its way to Turkish waters with the cruiser Montana, also was heard from at Arlington today, reporting herself about 1,000 miles out from New York.

INVESTIGATE STORY.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Federal officers this afternoon began an investigation of the stories of two little Japanese children who said that they had been sold for $25 each by their parents in Tokio and had been brought to this country to be trained as athletes.

The children Yoshi Wakahama, 15 years old and Otcme Tamaka, 14 years old ran away from the home of Kumatra Namba in Chicago where they were being trained as members of an acrobatic team. The police took them in custody on the South Side.

Frank Wilson was a business visitor in Murrayville Thursday.

GENERAL MARKET NEWS

WHEAT PRICES TAKE DECIDED SLUMP

Break Under Season's Low Mark Established 24 Hours Before—Corn Finishes ¾c Down.

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Wheat prices broke today under the season's low record established only 24 hours before. Hope of speedy peace in Europe was responsible in the main. At the end of the session a feeling of steadiness prevailed but the market showed a net decline of ¾ to ⅞@1c. Corn finished ½ to ¾c down, oats off ⅛@¼ to ¼ and provisions varying from 5c lower to an advance of 17½c.

Waning of hostilities with Turkey affected wheat through the stoppage of exports from this side of the Atlantic and because of speculative sales which foreigners made in the pit here. As a result discouraged longs threw much of their property overboard and at the same time short sellers put heavy pressure in the market. Big receipts at primary terminals counted against the bulls and so did signs of curtailed milling operations at Minneapolis. Commision houses absorbed wheat on the decline and prevented any worse drop in quotations, although such buying was in the face of continued favorable weather and crop news from Argentina, where the outlook is now for an earlier harvest than had been expected. December ranged from 87¾ to 88¼ with sales ¾@⅞c net lower at 87½@87⅝c.

Latest trading in corn was at the lowest price of the season. Increasing receipts and improved quality had considerable to do with weakening the market. Fine weather and the break in wheat did the rest. December fluctuated between 47¾ and 49½c, closing heavy at 48¾c, a loss of ¾c net. Cash grades were slow. No. 2 yellow was quoted at 58@58½c for old and 56½c for new.

Oats eased off account of a predicted liberal increase of stocks. Upper and lower levels reached for December were 30½@30⅝ and 30¼c with the close ¼@¼c down at 30⅜c.

Shorts who had been hammering down the buying side after announcements that packing in the west for the week amounted to nearly a quarter million fewer hogs than a year ago. There was an easy close, at last night's prices.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

New York, Nov. 14.—In most of its essentials today's stock market was a repetition of the preceding day's session. Irregularity was no less pronounced and there was frequent periods of dullness, albeit the total output was larger. Trading was broader, but plainly professional some of the speculation running into issues supposed to be manipulated by pools.

Further clearing of the European war clouds was an important factor, the initial rise of one to two points being a natural sequence of the strong London market despite increasing firmness in money and discounts at that center. Both Paris and Berlin displayed renewed strength and those markets were buyers here to the extent of probably 25,000 shares on balance.

Some surprise was expressed in local banking circles at the rise in the German bank rate from 5 to 6 per cent, making the second advance in less than a month, and to the highest figure quoted by that institution since January, 1908. Both the British and French banks submitted weekly statements, the bank of England showing a marked gain in its liability reserves and a new increase in gold. The Bank of France lost a small amount of gold and reduced its loans and discounts by about $7,500,000. That the generan hardening has extended to remote centers was shown in the higher discounts quoted by the Bombay and Calcutta banks.

Private cables from London and Paris suggested resumption of copper buying for European consumers, which probably accounted in large measure for the strength of those shares. Pressure against U. S. steel persisted throughout the session but American smelting recovered all of its early decline with general firmness at the close.

"HARLIS HOME" WAS DEDICATED

Large Crowd Attends Exercises in the Second Baptist Church—Rev. George Hoagland Delivers Address.

Rev. George Hoagland, wife and daughter Miss Blanche, of Bloomington, and Miss Mary Smith of Cheyenne, Wyo., were in the city Thursday to attend the dedication services of the Harlis home, Rev. E. M. Harlis being pastor of the Second Baptist church.

The dedication service was conducted by Rev. George Hoagland. Music was furnished by the Jacksonville colored orchestra with Eugene Naseby as leader. Miss Smith very acceptably sang two solos, and a duet was rendered by Misses Helen and Genevieve Haithman with Miss Margaret DeWitt presiding at the piano. The program was given at the Second Baptist church on South West street and there was a large attendance. Dinner and supper were provided at the Harlis home and every one had a very enjoyable time.

Hoagland Address.

A portion of the remarks made by Rev. Mr. Hoagland in his sermon follow:

"We have met tonight for the purpose of dedicating what is to be known as the "Harlis Home." Never since the Disciples with their Lord met beneath the shade of the great rock in the coast of Caesarea Phillipi there to gaze in the niches that contain the images of the great generals of their age, where the Christ was to be introduced as the greatest of all generals, the acknowledgment came from the humble fisherman of Galilee as being the Christ, the Son of the living God, has there an event occurred to my personal knowledge like the one we are now privileged to enjoy.

There have been homes dedicated to the aged ministers and their wives there have been homes dedicated to the aged mothers and fathers homes for the unfortunate girls and boys and babes. This home that we dedicate tonight is in a class by itself. We believe that it is the works of the Spirit that confessed that Jesus was Christ by Peter in Caesarea Phillipi.

The above mentioned homes are controlled by strenuous rules and regulations to which the inmates are subject, but this home is to be controlled and managed exclusively by our Bro. Harlis, which makes it wholly unlike any other. We are persuaded to believe that the rules of this home will be of the highest type of Christianity for we believe the work to be done exclusively through the agency of the Holy Comforter which is Jesus Christ's earthly agent.

I need not say that our dear Bro. Harlis is deserving of this home for the liberality of the brotherhood and friends speak louder than I could possibly speak, a home that is to be owned and controlled exclusively by this our brother.

Many here contributed to this home who consider it a great honor to give to as worthy a cause as this. The home speaks for itself. It seems to me that Jacksonville is very greatly blessed by having such an honorable citizen in her midst as this our dear brother Harlis.

We as a race ought to feel our obligation to him for the influence which he has exerted among the higher element of our good white friends.

CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS SOON TO BEGIN

Within a very short time a campaign will be inaugurated here in Jacksonville to raise $50,000 toward the fund which must be had for Illinois Woman's college. The Methodist Board of Education has fixed certain requirements for institutions of college rank and one of these is that there must be an endowment of not less than $100,000. This is not a request, but a requirement and Illinois Woman's College to be free from debt and have $100,000 clear endowment must raise more than $130,000 before June next.

During the past seventeen years $300,000 has been added to the value of the college plant and of this amount only $30,0000 has come from Jacksonville. In going out to seek funds for the college the final question Pres. Harker or others meet is, what has Jacksonville done? The entire sum will be forthcoming if the people of Jacksonville get behind the movement and do their share. The past and present of the Woman's College alike give a basis of appeal and from a mere business standpoint the college is of vast importance to Jacksonville.

BUYS NEW AUTOMOBILE.

W. R. Routt and son have purchased a new seven passenger, 60 horse power White car of L. F. O'Donnell, for a consideration of $5,500. The car is not expected here until the first of the year.

REPUBLICANS LACK MAJORITY.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Latest returns show the Republicans will be without a majority in the Illinois senate. Edwin C. Perkins of Lincoln, Republican who was thought to have been elected in the twenty-sixth district was defeated by W. R. Shaw of Decatur, a Democrat. The Republicans will have only 25 members, one fewer than a majority.

Governor Deneen was in Chicago tonight but he refused to discuss the senatorial situation.

TAFT LEADS IN IDAHO.

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 14.—Taft swung into the lead today by a small margin in the presidential race in Idaho. Wilson is running close, and it will be impossible to say who has carried the state until the official count has been completed.

Indications were tonight that Taft had carried the state by several hundred.

Miss Courtney Crouch returned recently from a ten weeks' visit with relatives and friend in Kansas and Colorado.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Secret practice in the gymnasium today began a ten day period of hard work for the Northwestern university football squad to prepare them for the Illinois game next week. Coach Hammett gave the second string men a workout against the freshmen and then took the whole squad under cover where he trained them in several new plays.

URBANA, ILL., NOV. 14.—Illinois' final hard preparation for the Maroon invasion consisted mainly of defensive work tonight. How to break up Chicago's forward passes was the lesson members sought to have imparted to the Illini.

The first real gloom of the week came with the announcement that Booze is in the hospital with an infected shoulder and that Shobinger has a severely sprained ankle. This news served to complicate things. Mathers was given a generous going-over at right tackle, and may start on Saturday, unless Booze recovers. "Dutch" Wagner played fullback and showed up well.

CHICAGO, NOV. 14.—The University of Chicago football team went through its last hard practice today in preparation for the game with Illinois at Urbana on Saturday. Stagg put the regulars on the defensive and sent the freshmen against them in a long scrimmage intended to develope the defensive game. COMMENDS NEW TAX LAW.

New York, Nov. 14.—Andrew Carnegie issued a statement today explaining why he recently swore off an assessment of $10,000,000 on personal property in this city. Under the secured debt tax law passed recently, Mr. Carnegie paid a sum, which he says includes all the personal property against which the city authorities might assess him.

Before the secured debt tax law was passed, Mr. Carnegie declared the city imposed a tax of 12 per cent. upon bonds held by its citizens. This tax Mr. Carnegie characterized as "conspiracy." The new state tax is one-half of one per cent. Mr. Carnegie declares that while he always paid the city tax himself," this unwise law drove many of the wealthy people to take up residence outside the city limits, where the confiscatory tax was not levied."

Those who advocated the new law, Mr. Carnegie's statement concludes, "have rendered the metropolis a great service. The city is to be congratulated upon the new and just law embracing all holders of bonds."

SUBJECT OF SMALL MEDICAL LIBRARY

Dr. Carl E. Black Receives Editorial Comment on Article in Bulletin of Medical Library Association.

Practically the whole of the October number of the Bulletin of the Medical Library association, published in Baltimore, is devoted to an article by Dr. Carl E. Black, Jacksonville, Ill., on the subject of the small medical library.

The Bulletin has the following editorial regarding Dr. Black's article and the work which he suggests:

"We print in this number of the Bulletin a very important article by Dr. Carl E. Black, of Jacksonville, Illinois, the perusal of which we recommend to every member of the association. The subject of country libraries is one of very great importance in this country, and one that should be taken up by the American Medical association in some very definite way; as that association is now in very close touch with the country organizations and a great deal could be accomplished by following out some well matured plan of action. The Medical Library association has already started the work but it seems to us that it belongs partly to the national society. There are so many medical journals and so many new books published that no physician of moderate means can hope to purchase all that he really needs. A physician, will, of course, always have a few of the more important journals and his working library which he needs from day to day, but for occasional reference he requires many books and many journals. Not only that, he needs some one to help him find the articles he wants, and possibly to abstract such information as may be rerequired. Each county society be supplied with a good working library consisting of the latest medical books and the more important journals. The older books and those of historical interest will come by donation and exchange. A collection of books without some one to look after it or help the busy doctor, is almost useless so that a competent labrarian should be obtained, and if the librarian has sufficient leisure the articles in the current journals can be so indexed that the physician in any town of the county can have at his immediate disposal the latest information on any given topic.

OBITUARY.

Roy Williams Riggs who died recently in Winchester had a great many friends in Jacksonville. The following obituary appeared in the Winchester Herald:

Roy William Riggs was born in Winchester, Illinois, March 25th, 1873. He received his general education in the schools of his native city and in Brown's Business college in Jacksonville, Illinois. When the Spanish-American war came he was taking a course in Barnes Medical college at St. Louis. Abandoning his medical studies he enlisted in the volunteer branch of the government's military service. He was mustered in June 1, 1898, and served in General Miles' Porto Rican expedition until the close of the war, when he was honorably discharged with a clean military record.

After his discharge from the army he resumed his medical studies at St. Louis and was graduated from Barnes' Medical college in 1900. After graduating he located in Andover, South Dakota, where he continued in practice with a brief interruption until he abandoned the profession about three years ago, since which time he has not had good health.

He died from organic disease of the heart, at the home of his parents, in Winchester, Illinois, November 8th, 1912, aged thirty-nine years, seven months and thirteen days.

Six years ago this present month he entered the Catholic church at Jacksonville, Illinois, and thence forward he adhered to and died in that faith.

Services were held at the family residence at ten o'clock on Monday, November 11th, 1912, Rev. Father C. S. Bell of St. Mark's Catholic church officiating.

LOST $20,000 ON FAKE RACE.

Chicago, Nov. 14—William T. Kirby, owner of the collapsed Kirby Savings bank, loct at least $20,000 in a fake wire tapping swindle, it developed today during the federal investigation into the ruin of the bank. A petition introduced by Kirby's attorneys asking that the inquiry into what had become of $20,000 drawn by Mrs. Margaret L. Kirby, wife and assistant of the banker, named a fashionable hotel as the home of the swindlers and stated that Kirby was given $10,000 there by his wife the day before the bank closed.

Patrick H. O'Donnell, Mrs. Kirby's attorney, explained that Mrs. Kirby went to the hotel with her three small children and there met her husband and the alleged swindlers. She delivered the $10,000 to Kirby, and the leader of the wire tappers went in a taxi-cab to a house where the two men alighted and Mrs. Kirby and the children went home. Mr. Kirby then lost the money on a "fake horse race" according to O'Donnell.

O'Donnell attacked loose methods of the banks which handled the accounts of the Kirby bank. Nearly $40,000 in overdrafts with no security had been, accorded to the Kirby bank, he said.

Kirby, who has been declared insane, has made a number of "confessions," it is reported involving various large sums, said to have been lost by him on horse races.
